

Closing Remarks

Kathryn Burke:

Okay. Looks like I'm doing this...

Thank you everyone for attending the second annual Babel Conference.

We set this up because we want to give players and individuals a chance to share their knowledge and help others become better cooperative storytellers and because we learn from all of you.

I have enjoyed the presentations I attended. They were excellent.

Please join me in giving a HUGE thank you and round of applause to all our presenters!

(Large cheer!)

The presenters this year were excellent, and I'm going to take some of what I learned back to my own sims.

Amanda Rose:

Lots of great topics. Lots of great participation. I definitely enjoyed meeting some new folks and I know I will have some new stuff to try in my sims!

Kathryn Burke:

I also want to thank the organizers. Amanda Rose, Bear Waifu, and nx1701d.

Terrie:

Great job, all of you

Kathryn Burke:

It's like the old movie quote. If we build it, they (you) will come. But this really is all about the presenters and the attendees. You made this possible. Your comments were great. So, a final big cheer to all of you for coming. And those who wanted to come but were constrained by work. Thank you for your support!

Gregory:

And speaking from personal experience at these types of events, it's a lot of work and is very nerve-racking to be a panelist!

Kathryn Burke:

There will be another BaCon next year. If you have suggestions, or want to do a presentation, keep us in mind. We'd love to hear from you.

Amanda Rose:

And please, if you have any suggestions for next year, let any of us organizers know. We really value your opinions and thoughts!

Darn it @Kathryn Burke, you got it in before me!

@Gregory And speaking from personal experience at these types of events, it's a lot of work and is very nerve-racking to be a panelist!

Kathryn Burke:

Indeed! They put a lot of time and effort into their presentations, and we are very grateful to them for being here.

Gregory:

We are indeed!

Kathryn Burke:

So, again, thank you all. We hope to see you next year!

I almost forgot to thank the conrunners. Thanks to StarDuster, who came in to help as well. Woo hoo! (We had two other conrunners, but they're sick today.)

Now go out and enjoy some bacon! LOL

Gregory:

Everything's better with bacon!